Prélude Essence - Renaissance, Transformation and Evolution

May I have your attention please?

Battlegroup 301 Incorporated is about renaissance, transformation and evolution in co-operative co-creation of strategic and dynamic program, technology and personnel development endeavours, directed to revitalized nation building, with a massively fortified "Made in Canada" focus. These efforts are primarily in design engineering, research and development, experimental and applied technology at various levels of development in practical, conventional and state of the art manufacturing and inter-related service aspects of various industries, technology and products. Is this something that interests you?

We believe progress and success in this endeavour can definitely add to the quality of our lives in many ways, including increased opportunities and experiences en route. As you find and choose to be involved in something really interesting, we hope that an environment rich in challenge, fulfillment and incredible rewards is an inevitable result. Ask yourself, "What would I really like to do or experience?"

In exploring and developing your incredible potential, in defining your character and expressing your personality, and expanding your most compelling purpose and vision of personal destiny, you will begin to develop and find out that your ability to create the life you want generates an amplified level of energy, more focused action, natural decisiveness and determined action that makes it easier to get things done, achieve goals, experience new growth and excel in many ways. Is this something you want?

In addition to this potential, you will certainly learn and experience something new, on a whole new level, in a way that you may have never imagined possible, or remotely even experienced in your wildest dreams. The sparkle of possibility in your eyes will be evident to yourself and others, the thrill of finding something you can identify with and be involved in will permeate your soul, and we hope that is something you can identify with and experience. Imagine for a moment that your best years, the best of who you are now is to be excelled by your greatest contributions and personal touch that is just around the corner, or the next page, or over the horizon, perhaps in a place you would have never guessed. If you look for it, you will find it. Imagine for a moment of what that could be.

You may have heard it some where, some time or some place, that, "Anything is possible if you set your mind and your heart to it." This is the beginning of creating or experiencing that future we envision by what we do today, now in the present. Oh, so you do know about living in the present eh? Are you forever done with sacrificing the present for some incredible idealistic future? What if there was a much better way, something with challenge and reward?

Hmm, how about realizing simply that we only need to focus on what we like and want to create or experience, with a dedicated course of action in the direction of our strongest interest every day moment by moment being the best of who we are, doing the best we can in every situation we are in, with the resources and awareness that we have! Smart idea eh? Easier said than done too! As individuals we accept personal responsibility. Is it really like that? You might ask. Sure it is...you don't have to wait for the future, you can do it now, be it, experience it, feel it in it's totality, what it is that this magical far off place called the future is like, some call it paradise, some call it, being in their zone. Don't worry about tomorrow too much, make plans, write down your goals, set a schedule or task if you prefer, it's still important, but what is more important is today, work at it, make it your best day ever!

Battlegroup 301 Incorporated - Renaissance & Transformation

A person is kind of like a neuron in the brain, but without a doubt operating at a conscious level of mind is where you must at least start, working in the direction you envision, and with the brilliant capacity of a mastermind. Positive intentions, constructive directed action, thoughtful altruistic action and civilized behavior, are thoughtful and action focused. The capacity for co-operation and agreement on simple things may be difficult at times, but the main thing, the vision needs to be a unifying one. The creative and visionary individual is often the last man standing in the battlefield, the shop floor, the field of dreams, or where ever they may be.

Character, values, needs and desires, direction and purpose are essential in individual goals, as well as any enterprise or endeavour. Presently, we are in a fragmented, corrupted, distracted and undisciplined society that has little or no moral compass, true values or resilient get up and go, or the tenacity, determination and resolution to focus and make progress over time with an industrious work ethic, or even useful faculties of creative imagination. Do you trust yourself to step forward in that direction of personal development and expression? Is this something you would like to be involved with?

As we more fully engage ourselves in forward thinking, optimizing creative imagination, exploring possibilities towards developing a spectrum of alternate future realities that we can choose to experience, with our crystal clear vision of clearly defined programs, we easily zoom in on projects in great detail, establishing specific goals, enabled and empowered by powerful belief structures, amplified by priceless values that empower and fortify our abilities and the inherent capacity to achieve ultimate success in all the things we share in common.

The things that can unite us is what we share in common, such as our boldest dreams, greatest visions and our most noble efforts in nation building, and yes, especially working together on what we agree to in a way the can accommodate individuals, resonate with interests, solve the most complex problems easily with an understanding and perception of seeing the world through someone else's eyes, to really fix and change those things that we really want to be different, but yet at times have seemed powerless for us to change or even dream about the capacity to do it.

All the while inside we yearn, "I wish it was different", "This must change!", "This is more like the life I had in mind, that's more like it...now we are talking eh?" The language of the heart, so hard to get the point across at times, yet it knows more and feels more than words can ever express, but we will see about that too. Every individual can discover what is deep inside their heart, their greatest dream and desires. Every individual needs a purpose, vision and desire, it might be something you were born for, what interests you the most, and maybe perhaps for the first time in your life, what you will really live alive for! This concerns us, as much as it does you, it's mutual you see, it's kind of like the ultimate unlock decryption code, the one that makes anything possible, you might have heard that anything is possible, but it is more important to really know, and that certainly is worth exploring, it can change everything.

There is a reason you know and can do what you can, it's you, with your special gifts. Some gifts you are aware of and some you are not, or have at least have started to discover. It's even possible no one ever told you about them, but never the less, you have them and they await your discovery and expression. You must dare to step forward in that direction. Are you willing to step forward bravely into the unknown, are you willing to trust yourself?

Battlegroup 301 Incorporated - Renaissance & Transformation

Perception and perspective is a very good thing to have, as we consider a multitude of people and perspectives, we know there are many talented, gifted and capable people beyond measure, people that yearn to express that greatness, not so much in the terms of self-aggrandizement, but more like making their personal mark and contribution, leaving their signature on something. Whether contributions are small and microscopic or larger than life, in the physical, meta-physical or multi-dimensional realm, everyone is valuable, everyone can make a contribution and difference, either part of a team, a solitary brilliant inventive genius, someone living their philosophy, someone doing anything at all, but true to themselves as much as they can be, being a part of the bigger picture, the whole idea, the one universe or multiverse they create, the alternate reality created from imagination and action.

Realizing full well that society is not always geared or appreciative of that unconventional individual or the person or group that steps outside the box of conformity on to the courageous road of brilliant discovery. We know there are many who can make existing things obsolete, yet the world is still full of obsolete stuff. With this understanding, we hope to take a unified step away from the junk, trinkets, superficial disposable society and all the other junk we are forced to buy and consume, use and discard, and all that stuff that we must forever replace with more of the same. This practice and way of life must end and it will end.

Our life, our world, our relationship, the stuff we have, whether it is our homes, furniture, tools and machinery, the way of life we live, the food we eat, the thoughts we think, the plans we make, the work we dedicate ourselves to, these things can all be improved and be made with the kind of quality that will last and last. We start and do the best we can, with what we have, in whatever situation we are in, and we work at it, the real continuous improvement alive and well in this time now, this Canadian century. Is that the kind of quality you are looking for?

Many people know a fair amount about the establishment. We know how people like certainty, yet they hold back from daring to embrace change, from daring to be all they were meant to be, some people resist change and resist stepping into the unknown. We are not talking about the wholesale abandonment of good traditional and valuable things, just so you know. It's more about the status quo, the standards of mediocrity and stagnation, a life without challenge or adventure, and everyone has a different capacity, threshold and interests in those and other things we could talk about. So how to be involved eh? How do we make progress in this difficult mountain of perplexity, anxiety, fear, apprehension...all these issues and excuses? We make effort working towards our goals, our main purpose and ambition!

We know how some people really like their privacy, and that's ok, there are ways to be involved, challenged, rewarded, appreciated without the detrimental effects and risk that one might encounter, the whole world waits for you to express your greatness. We will remove every possible obstacle, create circumstance, organization and possibility so vast and comprehensive, you will wonder all along, why it was never done before. Yep, that's right, why not be a special or secret agent, why not have numbered accounts, loaded to the hilt with securities in things that interest you the most, to be compensated for all the immense reservoir of intellectual capital, it's worth much more than you know, probably no one has ever told you, and certainly very few if any have ever pitched it this way before until now. Why not be involved, why not, it's not hard you see, you just have to want to! It was never time before, you need to realize a few things about the time space continuum, the timeline and how right now, it's about time! Let's work together on this, we know it is a lot of territory, but we are confident you will understand in time, so to speak. Let's take another step shall we...

Battlegroup 301 Incorporated - Renaissance & Transformation

Knowing this now, we focus our attention, direct our energies and apply ourselves resourcefully with an industrious work ethic, positive constructive optimism, ambitious vitality and a powerful sense of fortitude in our quest working together actively engaged in the Renaissance, Transformation and Evolution of Canada and in particular the programs, technology and products and also our personal development. That's the main thing!

Our mutual quest is reflected by attainable goals involving an incredible array of opportunities, a kaleidoscope of discovery, soul energizing adventure, exciting challenge that really lights up our neurons and super-charges our heart, energy field and enthusiasm. Incredible rewards and those dynamic experiences and achievements can make us feel incredibly alive! Think about it for a moment, what it would be like to be so completely compelled, inspired and motivated towards the fulfillment of our greatest dreams and ambitions, and knowing that we can achieve these things, by working at it right now, spending time on what matters the most. So in this aspect we have some considerations; we can:

Concentrate the fire:

1) With directed energy, we create dynamic solutions for challenging problems, as we know problems are temporary in nature and can be dealt with; we can flip difficult situations to our advantage and lever opportunities while we optimize intelligent use of energy towards generating results in true growth, real progress, useful learning experiences we can keep, beneficial productivity, rewarding achievement, increased freedom by responsibility, expanded creative time and enhanced faculties of perception and awareness.

2) With directed resources, we create integrated and inter-connected research, learning and action centres, with an environment where creative imagination and expression can thrive, develop and grow, amplifying common values, beliefs and goals, constructive and purposeful work in traditional, experimental and progressive technology and services, expanding on ideal learning and living, clean technology, co-operative and mutual beneficial advantage, positive sustainable alternate future options of nation building with a great respect for life, healthy living and a keen emphasis on long term priorities in addition to our immediate physical survival and our life journey, that will outlast everything physical and temporary.

3) With purposeful super-structure we can develop and utilize strategic organizational and logistical capabilities for successful mission completion, program tasking, innovative risk and reward structures with net benefit economic environmental amplification of total force and asset deployment (assets, speed, power, force, doctrine and belief, organization and entities, command and co-operation, counter-measures) dedicated to creating excitement, adventure, fun, profitable jobs, careers, opportunities and useful learning experience that translates into the everyday benefits as we defend and fortify lifestyle choices leading to enhanced self-sufficiency of buy, build, save and invest with Made in Canada eh!

4) With directed action in continuous improvement in the renaissance, transformation and evolution of participating individuals, society, industries, associations and everyday enterprise; with an increased capacity of personal and mutual responsibility, personal leadership, self-management, self-sufficiency, utilizing mutual co-operative structures in a robust operating capacity in a universe of existing realities of peaceful co-existence and co-creation that we can choose now as we develop and share perspectives, concerns, awareness, values and ideas. We really have a lot of great things going for us.

Battlegroup 301 Incorporated - Renaissance & Transformation

5) We can apply ourselves diligently to form consensus, make resolutions, create initiatives, rally the troops and actually express decisive, consistent and dedicated action! With an extremely fluid and flexible, and unparalleled and integrated capacity for all forms of compensation for intellectual capacity, financial and non-financial investment contributions, the total unified force and logistical capacity to work together in mutual co-operation and benefit will lead naturally to the greatest adventure of all time. The main focus has details.

We hope that you find something you care about and are interested in, we hope that you have and exercise the courage, confidence and optimism to step forward and do much more than just dream, or sit on the sidelines of indifference, insecurity and doubt. Sometimes we don't have all the info or resources we would like, but we still must decide and act. What is really important is that we step forward in the direction of our dreams and the vision of what we like and want, and go forward, trusting that more will be available, solutions, resources and people, anything we could possibly need will be there and we will and are making progress. We hope that you understand about how freedom and opportunity is related to your rights and responsibilities and that life is getting better in every way, each and every day! Every individual can choose to work at it, to express the best of who they are, and work their plan!

We realize now that we can create our circumstance, opportunities, challenges and the lifestyle that we want, as we whole heartedly apply ourselves in being all those things we are energized to do, personify by example the essence of those characteristics that we value as we make worthwhile contributions to the grander vision of building up our society and environment, our industries and our trade or profession, we can easily develop and benefit from amazing experiences, making new friends and waking up to a brand new reality, a new day of possibility waiting to be explored and discovered. With comprehensive and well thought out plans and a dedicated course of action, a life geared to continuous improvement, the will to get involved and be the make it happen individual. It is possible, work at it!

Of course we realize there is a lot to read here, and this is only a fraction of the what is being worked on and available, we hope that this is easy to grasp and understand quickly the essence of what is organized and presented and that also we can go into much greater detail. Although a lot of territory and industry is explored in this, you will find that the programs, technology, products and people can work together in the overall effort of long term job, career and enterprise creation, products, technology, services and a whole lot more!

This magnitude of this program and endeavour requires co-operation and involvement, and just about anyone can contribute in some way, as each person can study, consider, decide and act as they choose. If you have any concerns, questions or constructive suggestions, please let us know. The perspectives of each individual, increased awareness and understanding and progress in our relationships add to nation building capacity in these endeavours. This is not a venture to be all things to all people, but you will know if it is for you and by spending time considering this and more, you will be happy to know that your life will not be the same, if you seek change and opportunity, if you choose to go in this direction or not, it will be that investing time in really thinking, planning and taking action about what you want out of life is related to what you will invest in it, and in what kind of Canada you want to live in is related to how you live your life, accepting your personal responsibility in making it everything you want it to be!
