

Battlegroup 301 Incorporated - Renaissance & Transformation

EXO_11 - Agriculture, Forestry & Environment

A personal program for individuals and groups who are interested in direct involvement and action in regeneration, re-mineralization, site clean up, beautification, tree planting, sustainable agriculture, organic farming, hobby farms, family farms, landscaping, gardening, forestry regeneration, forestry management, tree planting, pest management, crop diversification, applied meta-physics, enhanced produce development, bio-diversity, soil science and management, secure water quality and supply, healthy and tasty food production and enhanced diet and health. A personal program is simple and to the point, having practically limitless application potential that advances towards a much more sustainable and beneficial environment and for those involved.

Other research and development, investment and co-operative effort can be directed towards people and organizations already involved in waste transformation, on site clean up and developing more and better ways to clean up hazardous sites, mining waste, chemical pollution, industrial dump sites, atmospheric pollution, electrical and radio-wave pollution, soil destruction, erosion, soil-ecosystem corruption, awareness of all kinds of pollutants and hazardous materials, including those in food, water and air. It's important that we rapidly close the gap between what we know and what we do. We can still have industry and technology, just find new, improved and cleaner methods of doing things without polluting the planet and destroying life and the elements of making life possible.

Useful and constructive regenerative methods to transform and neutralize the toxic load on the planet, must be balanced with the energy, resources and command decisions of actually doing what needs to be done, in any way that we can. This is something each person must choose personally. Personal responsibility equals freedom and a step away from the crowd of the victim mentality, and the reckless thoughtless and careless mentality and course of action that seems by observation, prevalent, however there are a lot of people in Canada that are disciplined and well meaning in doing their part.

We can choose to direct resources and time towards that which is life sustaining and making the world a better place, or not. We all have freedom of choice on this planet. We each learn about the balance of light and dark, pollution and regeneration, destruction and construction, good and bad, and as some would say "more gooder!" Many people have realized that a lot of what we do is already obsolete, backwards, destructive and immensely far from life and health sustaining, and are working to expand their life experience to something more life sustaining and harmonic with the natural world.

Many people already are involved in the regeneration of their personal health, we hope this can go a step further. Many people have cut back on waste and pollution, are involved in tree planting, organic farming and buying local produce. Anyone can be involved in the re-mineralization and detoxification of the ground and body, or any of these aspects we propose, nothing stops anyone from being more involved, directing energies to a positive and lasting difference. These things can all be done independently or as a group, or even with access to those things that might prove useful from time to time. You don't need a leader, you can choose and take action as if you already are the one person that makes all the difference, but it doesn't hurt to ask, as there are many who can share and help.

Battlegroup 301 Incorporated - Renaissance & Transformation

We hope to enable greater consciousness and promote your ability and logistics, working with people with an energetic outlook and expertise, apply technology and resources, develop new things on the way and at least be part of the team working together co-operatively, focused to create a much better environment, a much better world. Contact us for more details and really make sure you share your personal enthusiasm and style to encourage others not only know, but accept personal responsibility and act with that intention to increase the quality of life in harmony with a more peaceful life respecting philosophy.

Contact us if you can help others, desire or need help with people, technology, expertise or other resources in this venture, including written articles of interest and workshop proposals on what you are concerned with, have experience, need or are planning. Thanks for your involvement and caring!

You can always check out Capital Vault Incorporated, you can be sure they have a Agriculture, Forestry & Environment program and portfolio somewhere buried in the paperwork eh...