EXO_12 - Management Ideals

Solid understanding, intentions, relationships and a diligent course of action that supercharges the atmosphere, are essential management ideals generating solid measurable performance and progress. This is a confident foundation to establish and support the building of a long term business enterprise.

If we look at basic management philosophy, what seems interesting is how far one can really go with, "I'll look after you", "Let me take care of it" , or even, "I accept personal responsibility" or the maxim of realistic and honest expectation of, "We only promise what we can deliver and deliver what we promise!"

Obstacles, problems, difficulties, un-achieved expectations, unknown and unforeseen events are temporary in nature, and can be often rectified with good management. These learning opportunities offer potential for purposeful constructive growth that augment personal and organization development where everyone benefits.

So, in the course of being altruistic, we have the attainable goal of neutralizing and avoiding those negative emotional and dysfunctional states in ourselves and the people we deal with. With that in mind, involving ourselves in management, as well self-management we will certainly have our work cut out for us!

If we look for it and pay attention, these essential management ideals, philosophy and perspective can go a long way towards enabling greater progress, success and continuous improvement in our everyday endeavours.

It's true that courageous decisions and whole hearted dedication are unparalleled in magnitude of possibility, even as our personal integrity and work ethic permeates and transforms our environment into something we can all enjoy and appreciate.

Have a great day at management!
